Up for Debate: Your Future

It's hard to turn on the TV without flipping past coverage of the 2008 presidential election. You may not be old enough to vote, but the outcome of the election will shape your future. So, pay attention! The candidates often talk about key issues like the importance of getting a college education.

- "Putting a college education within reach of every American; that's the best investment we can make in our future." (Sen. Barack Obama, Democrat)
- "I believe that college shouldn't just be a privilege for the wealthy – but an opportunity for anyone with the talent, determination and ambition to learn." (Sen. Hillary Clinton, Democrat)
- "We're now looking at a minimum of K-14, not the idea of K-12 as a bare minimum to be prepared for the job market today." (Mike Huckabee, Republican)
- "We must be a nation committed to competitiveness and opportunity." (Sen. John McCain, Republican)

February is Black History Month

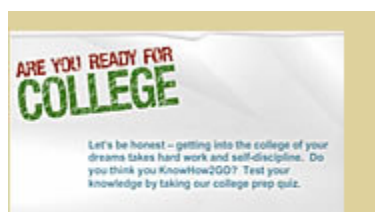

Did you know that the 105 Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs) in the United States graduate a quarter of the African Americans who earn college degrees – and half of African-American professionals (doctors, lawyers, etc.)? They've also graduated a number of celebrities, including:

- Oprah Winfrey, Tennessee State University
- Randy Jackson, Southern University A&M - Baton Rouge
- Samuel L. Jackson, Morehouse College
- Tom Joyner, Tuskegee University
- Wanda Sykes, Hampton University

Scholarships given by the United Negro College Fund, a KnowHow2GO partner, often help to make these and other schools affordable. Click here for a map of some HBCUs.
