OCTOBER 2008

Find the Right Fit – Virtually!

CollegeWeekLive – an interactive, virtual college fair – is fast approaching. Join thousands of your peers online on November 12 and 13, and visit hundreds of colleges across the country without ever leaving home. Best of all, attendance is free! So sign up here.

Below are some tips for getting the most out of your CollegeWeekLive experience:

Right Now

- Pre-register so you don't waste time on the day of the event
- Mark your calendar for November 12 and 13

One Week Before the Fair

- Check out the list of colleges and universities and decide which ones you want to visit
- View the agenda and select presentations to watch live

During the Fair

- Exchange Instant Messages with admissions reps
- Check out virtual booths for colleges and partners like KnowHow2GO
- Watch videos of real college students talking about their experiences

- View live presentations by admissions reps from top colleges

Push Yourself: October

Middle Schoolers, Freshmen and Sophomores

- Are you keeping your grades up and taking the "tough" classes colleges require?

Juniors

- Did you take the PSAT this month? Did you know that your score could qualify you for scholarships?

Seniors

- Have you requested letters of recommendation from a teacher and a counselor?
- Did you register to take the SAT or ACT in November or December?
- Are you submitting any early action or early decision applications?

College Access & Opportunity

Colleges and universities want you to get in and be successful. More than 225 offer special programs and scholarships for students who are the first in their family to attend college. There are also scholarships that celebrate the diversity you would bring to campus.

To learn more about these programs and scholarships, check out the Center for Student Opportunity. And take a sneak peek at their College Access & Opportunity Guide. Ask your teachers and counselors if they have a hard copy you can borrow.
